

Ancoats Green Manchester

A bespoke bottle play unit inspired by the former flint glass bottle works.

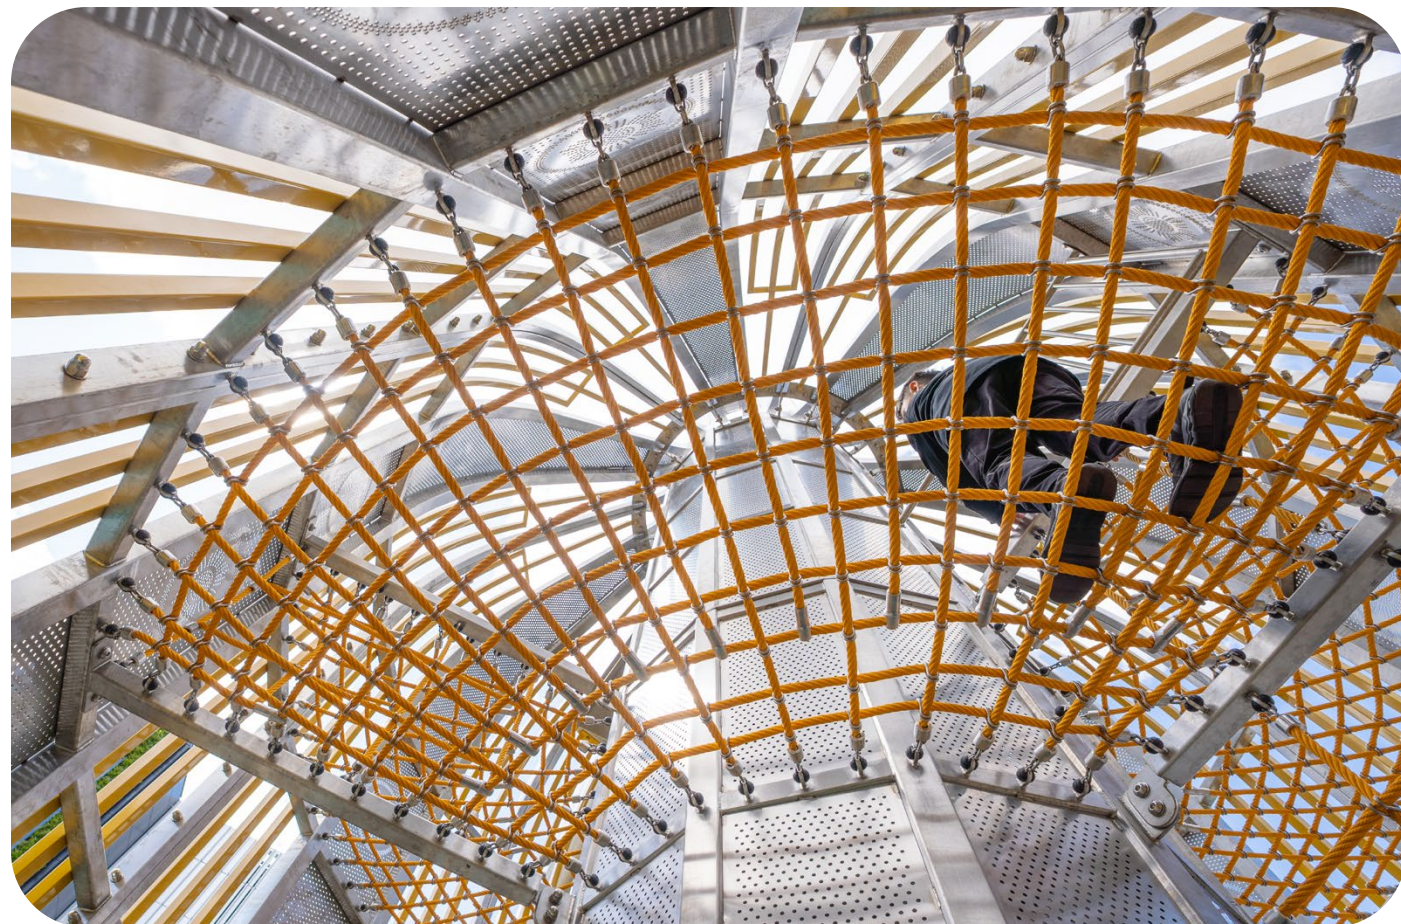

Designed and manufactured by us at Massey & Harris, the new Bottle themed play structure blends industrial heritage with bold, inclusive play. Now a standout feature in the newly redeveloped Ancoats Green, Manchester.

Massey and Harris were invited by Planit to bring a bold new play concept to life at Ancoats Green, a striking bottle-themed centrepiece at the heart of their landscape design.

The bespoke Bottle Play Structure stands at 11 metres tall and 4 metres wide. A bold nod to Ancoats' industrial heritage, reimagined through the lens of fun, colour, and creativity.

Made from stainless steel with a mix of decorative perforated and powder-coated panels, it's as striking on the outside as it is exciting on the inside. Inside the bottle, little adventurers will discover a spiral staircase, multi-level rope decks, and a central column climber, all leading up to the giant tunnel slide!
